Source Water Protection Areas and Regions digital data file entitled "XXX_NameToBeDetermined"

Some SPA's which fall outside Conservation Authority areas have not been named at the time of this publication and have been assigned "No Name" on the map. The digital data file is derived from the best available mapping for each Source Protection Area (SPA) and in general follows a scientific 'height of land' definition for watershed areas. Coordinates and features are representative of the Earth's surface, and in general are accurate to within 10 metres for southern Ontario, and 20 metres for northern Ontario. Not all islands are shown on the map, but it is assumed all islands which have drinking water concerns will be considered in the area extending to the international Boundary, as defined in the digital data file. Islands that are shown are for reference only.

All areas in the Ottawa River up to the Ontario / Quebec provincial boundary, and areas in the St. Lawrence River, St. Clair River, Detroit River and St. Mary's River extending to the International Boundary will also be considered in the applicable Source Protection Plans.
