RE: Deputation on the Salvation Army Campaign in Central York Region

Major Brian Bishop of the Salvation Army in Central York Region has requested to make a deputation to Community and Health Services Committee members to update them on the Salvation Army Campaign and to raise awareness of the services the Salvation Army provides.

Accompanying Major Bishop will be Jane Haslam, Coordinator for the Salvation Army's Homelessness Prevention Program.

The Salvation Army is an international Christian organization committed to assisting those who are struggling while educating others on what it means to live in poverty. They have grown to become the largest non-governmental direct provider of social services in Canada.

Each year, the Salvation Army of Central York Region provides thousands of our residents with food, clothing and shelter. They also provide programs to help individuals and families overcome emotional and social obstacles and to deal with addictions that have taken control of their lives.

The Salvation Army provides vulnerable residents with the hope and support they need to build a brighter future.

Adelina Urbanski
Commissioner of Community and Health Services
